

Strengthening Engagement, Productivity & Diversity Pipelines

Ms. Renée Christie

Studies show that productivity and diversity are intrinsically connected, and the importance of utilizing learnings from minority employees is vital to overall progression. Locelle's core mission of creating equitable workplaces for women is key to the value they place on diversity, and pairing mentees with mentors whom they can relate to and grow with is a vital component to the matching process.

Adhering to the specific needs of the mentee, a phenomenal and visibly productive partnership ensued with Terramera's Research Associate, Renée Christie and her mentor.

Terramera is actively supporting their diverse workforce through Locelle's mentor-matching platform, and recognizes that they are leading the way for innovation and dynamic outcomes by applying Locelle's equality-driven actions, which they collectively share.

"The team at Locelle went above and beyond to connect me with a mentor that aligned with my objectives, and connect with a Black woman mentor. My sessions with her have been instrumental in helping me to use my voice more, share my ideas and step into roles, as I continue to do good in science."

Ms. Renée Christie,
Research Associate at Terramera.

"The pipeline of a diverse team, especially with women from a majority of different backgrounds and in higher level technical positions as well, adds to that enriched experience and ensures that a team can move forward successfully."

Ms. Sydney Jung,
People Operations Generalist at Terramera.